

THE CENTER FOR "RACE," CULTURE AND SOCIAL JUSTICE COLLOQUIA SERIES

WHAT COLOR IS YOUR CAMPUS?

How Racism in the Academy Impacts Students, Faculty and Learning

Presented by Kristal Brent Zook,
Professor of Journalism, Media Studies and Public Relations, Hofstra University

This talk will look at several recent high-profile cases involving faculty members of color, as well as student protests documenting racial injustice on campuses nationwide.

Professor Kristal Brent Zook has published work on race, women, culture, and social justice featured in dozens of magazines, newspapers, and digital outlets, including The New York Times and The New Yorker, where she recently wrote about #BlackintheIvory.

Event is FREE and open to the public.

Advanced registration is required. RSVP at events.hofstra.edu.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 2021

1-2:25 p.m.
Guthart Cultural Center Theater

First Floor, Axinn Library, South Campus

For more information, call 516-463-6585 or email RaceCultureSocialJustice@hofstra.edu.

Read Professor Zook's New Yorker article:
newyorker.com/news/the-political-scene/how-black-lives-matter-came-to-the-academy